Training Resources: Social Emotional Development

There are many resources available to help you support staff members' learning related to social emotional development. This handout provides a short list of publicly-available resources. You can use the resources to train staff or provide ongoing professional development and coaching.

1. Infant & Toddler Training Modules: Center on the Social Emotional Foundations for Early Learning
   http://csefel.vanderbilt.edu/resources/training_infant.html
   This site provides PowerPoint training materials, printable classroom resources, and resources to share with families. Materials are designed for Infant & Toddler classrooms.

2. Preschool Training Modules: Center on the Social Emotional Foundations for Early Learning
   http://csefel.vanderbilt.edu/resources/training_preschool.html
   This site is similar to the one described above, but the materials are designed for preschool classrooms.

3. Technical Assistance Center on Social Emotional Intervention for Young Children
   www.challengingbehavior.org
   This site has pages dedicated to (a) training resources and (b) coaching resources around social emotional development for children ages 0-5.

4. Cyberbullying Toolkit
   https://www.commonsensemedia.org/educators/cyberbullying-toolkit
   This website has downloadable resources to share directly with school-age children and their families. You can also use the materials to educate staff members.

5. Bullying Prevention Training Center
   This resource, designed by the U.S. government, provides downloadable PowerPoints and training materials to educate school-age staff members about bullying and social skills.