Creatively Speaking

There is a lot of thought going on in the world about creativity. Take a little bit of time to learn more about one of the digital spaces where ideas are shared: TED conferences. In its own words, TED is a nonprofit “devoted to ideas worth spreading.” World-famous, wildly creative artists, scientists, and inventors share their thought-provoking ideas in short, multimedia presentations. After you have watched a few videos, take time to think about these questions. Refer to the websites listed in Explore Lesson 1 Infant & Toddler Creative Expression to complete this activity.

1. What did you learn about creativity in yourself?

2. What did you learn about creativity in others?

3. What did you learn about how creativity is influenced by those around us?
